

From a Difficult Life, Emerge Out-of-this-World Gifts...Part 5

By Melissa Jagst, with Karen Larre

As the years went by, I continued to struggle to find my place in the world. Then in 7th grade, I met Angel, who became my first boyfriend. He was very good looking an all the girls wanted to date him, but for some reason he liked me! I also made the cheer-leading squad and had a great school year. Although at home I continued to have difficulties with my step dad, it felt like I was finally starting to fit in!

Going into 8th grade, I had hopes that life would continue to look up. Then cheer-leading tryouts came and I didn't make the squad. I was heart broken; feeling as though my only sense of positive identity was lost. Shortly after that Angel moved away and I felt totally adrift all over again.

Then came 9th grade, and high school was really intimidating; with endless halls and overwhelming numbers of students. Then I saw Angel! He was back! We went to a Halloween party and shared our first kiss. It was magical! When I got home, my step dad grounded me for a month. The next day in school Angel and I talked about our home lives and made the decision to run away. We would take a Greyhound bus from Chicago to Florida where Angel had other family.

We took my step dad's change (about $400) and headed for the bus station. The tickets were $300 and the trip took 3 days. By the time we reached Miami Beach and paid for one night in a hotel, we were broke and hungry. Over the next week and a half, we scrounged for food and slept wherever we could. Even with no money, scraps for food and nowhere safe to sleep, this was the best I had ever felt in my life.

On our last day in Florida, about 2am, Angel and I were walking down a street and a police officer stopped us. He checked and found we were in the nationwide missing person's database. He took us to a shelter for runaways and the next morning we were on a plane home. Immediately, my mom and step dad took me to a hospital for a mental evaluation, which led to my spending the next 6 weeks as an inpatient. The loneliness was unbearable and my family did not visit. I never saw Angel again.

I've said this before, but it bears repeating. I am grateful for every difficult experience I've had in my life because these hardships made me the person I am today, with the gifts I am blessed to possess.

Do you do mediumship parties? Yes. I call them Closure Parties because every person who attends gets the opportunity to talk to a loved one who has crossed over and get closure and they are truly amazing experiences. I did a party recently and it started the way my groups begin; the most predominant spirit comes through first, and so on. In this case, it was a guy, 19 yrs old, whole died in auto accident, and his car was clearly green. Two sisters, sitting on opposite sides of room, were startled and said it was their brother who had died years before. The sisters asked questions that had been lingering for 15 years and were able to get wonderful closure. The next person who came through had passed as a result of diabetes. As I described more about the diabetic, a woman at the party said, "It sounds like you are describing my aunt, but she's still alive". At that very moment, the woman got a cell phone call and was told that the aunt she had been referring to had just died. All of the skeptics in the room became instant believers.
